Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fieni (US 3,795,274) and Wendt et al. (Wendt)(US 4,103,192). Fieni teaches fan motor with a housing 310 secured to a brackets 312 and a shroud 312e. Fieni does not teach a second resilient mounting on the motor to the supporting structure shroud. Wendt teaches a more complete vibration/noise isolation is achieved by resilient supports between the motor and the brackets and between the bracket and the casing. Wendt teaches a fan motor with the brackets having two resilient mounts: a plurality of first resilient mount 66 between the motor 26 and the bracket 32 and a plurality of second resilient mount 66 between the bracket 32 and the fasteners 58 bracket mounting structure 22. Wendt teaches the supporting arms 50 of the brackets in the grommets 66 positioned in the heat ring of the motor housing. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to construct the motor of Fieni with a second resilient member at the motor mounting and the shroud to provide a more complete isolation of the motor to noise and vibration.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 12/15/2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The Applicant's argument that Fieni cannot be modified to include a decoupler between the shroud and the radiator because it would destroy the invention is not persuasive because Fieni teaches the decoupler 327 between the shroud and the radiator in embodiments of figures 8 and 9.

Conclusion

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
